FORT SASKATCHEWAN.

On Monday evening His Honor Lieutenant Governor was entertained at a sumptuous banquet in the Saskatchewan school house, north side of the river. Mr. J. Lamoureux acted as chairman. There were about fifty guests present, amongst whom were Rev. Father Tureaud, Messrs. F. Fraser Tims, Geo. Roy, Q. M. Sgt. Belcher, St. Whilly, A. Prince, A. Lamoureux, F. Lamoureux, T. Lamoureux, J. U. Prieur, G. H. Picard, A. F. Degagne, Theo. Goulet, J. Dorne and others. The menu did great credit indeed to the ladies of Fort Saskatchewan.

The toast to the Queen having been proposed and the national hymn sung then came the toast of our Guest. The lieutenant governor, who had travelled all through the settlement on that very day, and seen himself the importance, complimented the people of this part of the district on their energetic efforts in promoting the development of agriculture, which was to make the Edmonton district one of the most important agricultural centres in the Territories. Public improvements were wanted, such as roads, bridges, etc. but owing to the very limited means at the disposal of his government these improvements had to be done gradually, and help given in equal shares to the various districts.

Speeches were delivered by Rev. Father Tureaud, Messrs. Tims, F. Lamoureux, G. Roy, J. U. Prieur, and A. Prince and appropriate songs.

This telegraph shooting match on the 24th resulted as follows: Edmonton 588, Calgary 581, Battleford 444 and Regina 438, leaving Edmonton an easy winner. During the shooting here the light was changeable and the wind blew in different quarters during the range from the right.

Geo. HUTTON of the Sturgeon, left for Calgary on Monday to meet Mrs. Hutton who was returning to Edmonton. A telegram was received here on Thursday stating that Mrs. Hutton had died at Calgary on Wednesday night. She had been in very delicate health for some time.

In the report of the Edmonton banquet to the lieutenant governor last week mention was inadvertently omitted of a song by Mr. Beecher, "Fair Canada" in response to the words of the "Globe and Mail" and "Commonwealth." The glebe club assisted in the rendition, which was very effective.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROYAL and party left for Battleford on Monday morning, expecting to reach there to-night, and will probably return on Tuesday. They will look for points down the river by skiff about the latter part of next week. His honor has given up his proposed trip to Lac la Biche.

THOS. HENDERSON received two swarms of bees from the central part of New York state on Monday. The swarms were small, made up expressly for shipment, but arrived in good condition, and were busily at work on Tuesday. The weather of the spring had not been favorable for the collection of honey, but still the old swarms are doing well.

MRS. SEVERE VILLENEUVE, who died at the house of B. Roudeau, in Edmonton on May 11th left a family of seven small children. Her husband was with H. Lamoureux on his trip to Great Slave lake and will not return before July. Until his return the children are unprovided for. On Thursday Jas. Gibbons made a collection for their benefit amounting to some sixty-five or seventy dollars.

A most welcome rain fell on Wednesday night, or first shower of the season, and rain sufficient to wet the ground which has fallen at Edmonton since August last. Field crops, particularly wheat, showed wonderful growth even without rain but the late shower will do a world of good to the oats and barley. It will also give the garden a start, which were making no progress owing to the extreme dryness.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Royal accompanied by Supt. Gagnon visited the Edmonton Protestant Public school on Wednesday forenoon, and heard the report for both departments pass a very creditable examination in their various studies. A number of the scholars of the school were interested in the school were present. At the conclusion of the examination in the senior department, Miss Annie Robertson gave a recitation, Miss Emma Monro, reading, and Miss Anna Lauder, Maggie Lauder and Annie Goodridge a song. In the junior department a short recitation was given by Alice McDougall, answered by Hattie Oliver and a reading by Robbie Robertson. The pupils of both departments and the visitors were then gathered in the larger room and his honor delivered a short address commending highly the teachers, Mr. Jas. Hurlin and Miss Gagnon, their success and the children on their evident aptitude for study. He had always taken a deep interest in the cause of education and the government showed by the liberal assistance given to Northwest schools that their importance was fully valued. Under the present system, wherever four or five families found themselves grouped together they could have a school. Provision was also made for higher education and he hoped to see many high schools and even colleges established before long. At the conclusion of his address he suggested that the children be granted half holiday, which, on the question being put before the children at the suggestion of Mr. D. Ross, was carried unanimously.

A marriage in connection with the Church of England was solemnized in the public school house on Monday evening last, Rev. Canon Newton in the chair. (4) The Queen vs. U. Prieur for defendant. (5) The Queen vs. Gibbons, case dismissed without costs. (6) The Queen vs. S. S. Taylor for defendant. (7) The Queen vs. Coghlan; case dismissed without costs. The crown was represented by C. H. Connors.

J. LABOURER, trader of Lesser Slave lake, on his way from the Landing with his winter stock of fur, and is reported to have made a good trade. Deidonne Desjarlais, another Slave lake trader, is also on his way with over $4,000 worth of furs. Lariviere and others from the Slave lake will doubtless also soon arrive. No traders have arrived from Lesser Slave lake and Lake Athabasca, which, as prices of furs are higher than usual, will have a good effect here. At Lac la Biche and at the cupouts surrounding Edmonton the fur trade is lighter than last year.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, JUNE 1, 1889

Reported that the bonds of the Winnipeg and Duluth road are practically sold and that work will be resumed on the road in about a month.

The C. P. R. has only selected between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 acres of land in the railway belt proper. The net land grant to the C. P. R. was 18,000,000 acres.

Instead of immigration from Britain to Canada being larger this season than formerly it is 4,786 souls less for the first four months of this year as compared with the like period of last year.

The Hamilton Spectator commenting on the anti-Jewish agitation in Ontario advises that past legislation be not interfered with, and makes the following suggestion: "Will it not be wise to go right to the root of the evil and to ask the imperial parliament for an amendment to the British North America Act forbidding any payment of public money or any gift of public property by the Dominion or any provincial government to any religious body for the purpose of, or to any school or place of learning controlled by any religious body? This is the only possible solution of the difficulty."

D. H. McMillan was re-elected for Centre Winnipeg by acclamation, to take the office of provincial treasurer of the Greenway government. This is generally taken as an effective answer to the charges made by the Free Press against that government. Mr. McMillan has supported Greenway throughout. If the people of any constituency in the province were in a position to know anything against the local government they were those of Centre Winnipeg and if the Free Press could exercise influence anywhere it could do so there. It had a few weeks before the government was open a constituent, and yet when the constituency was opened not enough opposition could be drummed up to do more than make a "What-ever may have been the reasons why these charges were not gone into before by the courts, or the royal commission, the only possible reason why they were not gone into on the opportunity offered by the opening of that constituency, must have been that there was nothing in them. Even the conservative papers of the province now call upon the Free Press to come off; advice which at last it seems quite ready to take.

During the debate on the grant of a conditional cash subsidy to the Grand Lake & Saskatchewan railway company launched in North York said: "I am not able to say whether this particular scheme is one that should be assented to or not, but for some years I have been of the opinion that we might to great advantage expend some of the public money in developing the North west. With regard to the land grants that are being given to the roads in the Northwest, I believe it would be much better if the government gave cash drawn from the land, because the cash would secure the prompt construction of the road and the lands would be at once available for settlers and traffic would be supplied for the roads in general. It would be wise for the government to spend so much per annum towards railway development in the Northwest. Suppose we spent one million dollars a year in cash towards developing the Northwest. To start with railroad building, even at the high estimate of nine miles of road being built every mile of road which would develop a country 50 miles in width and 100 in length. If that was done every settler would have a guarantee of a certain amount of road being built somewhere in his vicinity in the Northwest and our country would be rapidly filled up." Watson of Marquette said: "I quite agree with the member for North York when he states that railroads cannot successfully be proven in the Northwest. It is much better in the interests of the whole Dominion that instead of giving there land grants should pursue the policy they are following regarding the eastern railroads giving a cash subsidy of $2,000 per mile or more. A road could be better built on that basis on the 6,400 acres of land, and the cash subsidy would be only 60 cents an acre. I am satisfied the government, once the railway is constructed, would be able to realize more than from the land."

AS OTHERS SEE US.
Under the heading of "The Garden of Canada," the Manitoba Free Press of recent issue gives the following quotation from the Hamilton Spectator, with the remark that: "Down about Hamilton they have been accustomed to think that the Niagara peninsula was the garden of Canada. In matter of size it would answer very well as a garden for the Edmonton district, although much less rich and productive. That this region, capable itself of sustaining some millions of a population, will one day become of great account as a factor in the general prosperity of the Dominion, there is no manner of reason to doubt."

"Some days ago the Spectator copied from the Edmonton Bulletin a statement of temperature at Edmonton during a week in April. We have now the weather review for February, issued by the meteorological bureau of Canada, which shows the remarkable mildness of the winter along the base of the Rocky mountains as compared with Manitoba. And the remarkable thing is, that the average temperature does not fall with the increase of latitude. During the month of February the average temperature at Winnipeg was 37 below zero, and the average of eleven places in Manitoba was 2.5 below. At Medicine Hat it was 16.2 above; at Gladwin 15.2 above; at Calgary 18.6 above; at Banff 17.7 above; and at Edmonton it was 20.6 above zero. It is true that this temperature is higher at all these places than the average for the same month for four or five previous years; but, making that allowance, it will be seen that the February temperature in these places named was very moderate; and compares not unfavorably with southern Ontario. Here the temperature was considerably colder than the average of previous years. At Point Carleton the average for the month was 19 above; at London 17.7; at Hamilton 19.8; at Toronto 17.5; at Kingston 12.4. The fluctuations in Alberta, however, are much greater than in Ontario. At Edmonton the range during the month was 90 degrees—from 62 above to 28 below. At Hamilton the range was only 52 degrees—from 43 above to 9 below. The country near the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains will yet be found to be the garden of Canada."

It is most gratifying to find that this district is attracting such favorable notice in such prominent quarters, as it cannot fail to result sooner or later to a greater or less extent in material advantage to us. The cloud of prejudice against the far Northwest that has so long rested upon us is being gradually removed and replaced by a due appreciation of the climatic advantages and natural resources of the district. This change in public estimation is due not to any change in climate or new discoveries of wealth in any form, but to the enterprise, energy and perseverance of the people who by striking out to this remote point intend by their determination to overcome all obstacles, have demonstrated the facts already known to the scientific few so that they must be and are accepted without doubt by the unscientific many. This has not been the work of a day, nor a year. It could not be. Although it has taken a comparatively long time it has been well done. The pioneers of this district have established the fact of its wonderful advantages; it now remains for those in authority to take the proper means to turn these advantages to account as quickly and as thoroughly as possible.

STURGEON RIVER.

On Monday last Lieutenant-governor Royal was entertained at luncheon by the settlers of Sturgeon river at the residence of Mr. D. Craig, instead of at the school house as announced. The house and grounds were tastefully decorated with flags and evergreens as was also the house of Mr. G. Sutherland, which was passed before reaching Mr. Craig's. His Honor, accompanied by an escort of ten police under Supt. Neale arrived about 1 p. m., and was welcomed by Mr. A. Cameron, chairman of the reception committee, and a gathering of about 75 of the settlers of the immediate vicinity. At his request the party assembled were presented by Mr. Cameron to his honor who received each one with a cordial shake of the hand and a pleasant word. M. McKinlay, secretary of the reception committee then read the following

ADDRESS.

TO THE HONORABLE JOSEPH ROYAL,
LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF THE NORTHWEST TERRITORIES.

SIR.—We as residents of the Sturgeon Settlement desire to receive your honor in our midst with a hearty and cordial welcome. This is an important occasion in the history of this community, it being the first time we have had a visit from a representative of the crown.

As residents of one of the furthest agricultural settlements in the Territories we have thought it well to solicit your presence amongst us, having learned with pleasure that such visits were contemplated in your arrangements, as it gives us an opportunity of bringing before your notice and securing your honor as an eye-witness of the resources and progress of this particular locality in the Great Lone Land under your jurisdiction.

We are aware that the area of the Territories is so extensive and the settlements so scattered that it is difficult for any government to give to each the attention they need. But we beg most respectfully to call your special attention to the great drawback from which we suffer in not having a market for our surplus produce.

We have ten thousand bushels of grain on hand in this immediate vicinity and no conceivable outlet.

Therefore we earnestly request that local contracts for the supply to the various departments of the government of the produce of the country be let in such a way as to place the furnishing of such supplies as much in the hands of local producers as possible.

The news of a railroad pointing for this district cheers the patient pioneers with the prospects of better times and we shall be pleased to hear of the exertions of your honor's influence for its rapid construction.

We are acquainted with the fact of your honor's former endeavors to advance the interests of Manitoba and the Northwest, which gives us perfect confidence that under your rule the affairs of the Northwest will be administered with wisdom and discretion.

In conclusion, we thank you heartily for this visit and wish your honor every success in your exalted position and hope to see you again in our midst. Also the guests accompanying you are cheerfully welcomed and we hope that you all will enjoy your tour and return safely to your respective homes.

M. MCKINLAY.

Sturgeon, May 25th, 1889.

To which his honor replied as follows:

REPLY.

MR CHAIRMAN.—Your words of welcome to your beautiful settlement, I receive with the utmost gratitude.

As I have stated on previous occasions the object of my visit to this wonderful northern district is to see the people, to listen to their experience as well as to their expectations and requirements. If my power of action is limited, rest assured, Mr. Chairman, that my devotion to the advancement and progress of Canadians in the Northwest Territories knows of no bounds.

It was my lot to have been identified with the organization of the first province in the Northwest, and your kind reference to the work I may have assisted to perform in those years convinces me that in myself you acknowledge a true Canadian, a true friend of the Northwest Territories, a firm believer in the brilliant and solid future of this greater Canada. I have been a pioneer—you are pioneers, this is a sufficient guarantee that I understand and fully appreciate the drawbacks which retard your progress and prosperity. It will be my constant aim and effort to work with you in order to gradually remove the obstacles which prevent you from reaping all the benefits of an amazingly fertile soil, of an undaunted energy and perseverance, of the surprisingly illimited resources of this portion of the Territories.

The Dominion Government is fully alive to the necessity of developing the vast and rich basin of the Saskatchewan, and your connection by railway with the markets of the east and west is now a fact that may be accomplished before very long. In the meantime it will be my duty to lay your request before the proper authorities, and to call their attention tion to the earnest wishes of a patriotic and loyal group of Canadian pioneers forming the furthest agricultural settlement in the Territories.

I again thank you cordially both in my name and for my companions for your kind welcome; your reception will be one of the many pleasant recollections of my official tour.

J. ROYAL.

Lieut.-Governor of the N. W. T.
Sturgeon, 27th May, 1889.

An excellent luncheon provided by the ladies of the settlement was then served, Mr. Cameron presiding. At its conclusion at the request of the chairman, Messrs. F. Oliver and M. McKinlay delivered short addresses and his honor made a most happy speech, congratulating the company present on the latent wealth of the district and the energy and success with which that wealth was being developed by their exertions. He would bear in mind his visit to the settlement and would use the information which had been afforded him, and what he himself could gather, to the best possible advantage for the country. He complimented the ladies highly on their part of the entertainment and also on the part that they were taking and would in future take in the building up of the country. About four o'clock the party left for Fort Saskatchewan and three hearty cheers were given for Lieutenant-governor Royal as they started.

ST. ALBERT.

At about 2:30 p. m. on May 24th a large portion of the people of St. Albert, men, women and children, had assembled at Ed. Juneau's on the Edmonton trail to meet and escort the lieutenant governor to St. Albert. This escort consisted of about 100 men on horseback and as many driving. At St. Albert union jacks and French flags adorned most of the houses. There were two evergreen arches, one at the entrance of the bridge between H. W. McKenny's store and D. Chevigny's hotel, and the other at the issue of the bridge in front of E. Brosseau's store. Appropriate inscriptions such as "Bienvenue," "God Save the Queen," etc. were suitably placed. The main entrance to the R. C. mission was beautifully ornamented with evergreens, flags and inscriptions.

As the lieutenant governor, his suite and escort arrived they were met by His Lordship Bishop Grandin, the R. C. clergy and the Rev'd Sisters of the St. Albert convent with the orphans and pupils. His Lordship in the name of the clergy read an address of welcome, which referred to the heavy loss suffered recently by prairie fires, and made some very appropriate suggestions regarding the general welfare of the district; to which the lieutenant-governor happily replied. Then on behalf of the people of St. Albert J. U. Frieur welcomed the representative of Her Majesty and expressed the sentiments of loyalty and attachment felt by the community.
